In business since the 1950s, this graphic design studio was founded by two brothers, one a watercolor painter, and the other a photographer. I was fortunate to be able to see and learn about graphic design processes and what has changed over the last five decades. I was also given the opportunity to further expand my knowledge of previously learnt software.

- Designed promotional flyers and brochures for the events launched by the administration of the city and university of Genova.
- Prepared dentist's equipment catalogues for typographic print.
- Created several vectorial illustrations for different advertisements.
